Company Adds Broad Financial, Operating and Business Experience with Bob Goeltz as Chief Financial Officer and Cynthia Ladd as Senior Vice President, General Counsel

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., May 27, 2015 – CytomX, a biotechnology company developing Probody™ therapeutics for the treatment of cancer, today announced the appointments of Bob Goeltz as chief financial officer and Cynthia Ladd as senior vice president and general counsel. Prior to joining CytomX, Goeltz was chief financial officer of Onyx Pharmaceuticals, an Amgen subsidiary. Ms. Ladd previously served as an independent consultant and legal counsel to several leading biotech companies, including CytomX.

“CytomX continues to execute towards building a long-term, multi-product company, and I am thrilled to be further strengthening our senior team with the additions of Bob and Cynthia,” said Sean McCarthy, D.Phil, chief executive officer of CytomX. “Bob brings broad-based financial and operating experience to guide our future financing activities as we focus on long term value creation. Cynthia has been a trusted business advisor to the company through its growth and now will join us in a permanent position.”

During his 11 year tenure at Amgen, Mr. Goeltz held numerous positions in finance. He played an integral role in Amgen's $10.4 billion acquisition of Onyx and worked with leadership to deliver financial performance across multiple oncology therapeutics, including recently launched Blincyto™. Earlier in his career, he served as director of finance for Tularik. In this position, he supported the raise of more than $100 million in follow-on offerings. Mr. Goeltz began his career as an audit manager for Ernst & Young where he supported a number of initial public offerings. He received his master's in business administration from the University of California Los Angeles' Anderson School of Management and his bachelor's degree from Emory University's Goizueta Business School.

Ms. Ladd most recently was an independent consultant to biotechnology companies, supporting corporate growth by advising on corporate strategy, negotiations around collaborations, and clinical and regulatory issues, as well as acting as general counsel. Before this, she was president and chief executive officer of AGY Therapeutics. During her tenure, she guided the company through a successful venture round and its transition to a clinical organization. Ms. Ladd previously served as senior vice president and general counsel at Pharmacyclics. In this role, she led various operating groups, including Regulatory Affairs, advised on corporate governance and compliance matters, structured negotiations for business development activities and led all of the legal activities at the company, including those related to the company's intellectual property portfolio. Earlier in her career, Ms. Ladd held a number of positions at Genentech, including vice president of corporate law and chief corporate counsel. She began her career as an associate with Wilson, Sonsini, Goodrich & Rosati and Ware & Freidenrich (now DLA Piper). Ms. Ladd received her law degree from Stanford Law School, a master's degree in animal nutrition and biochemistry from Cornell University and a bachelor's degree in animal science from Pennsylvania State University.
